Another opportunity to purchase your own mine in the California Desert! Sitting just below Death Valley National Park lies the War Eagle Mine. Sitting on almost 400 acres and operating since the mid-1800's to 1957 this mine is truly a piece of wild west history. This lead/silver mine was one of the few groups of mines in the Death Valley region that was profitable. This property features several head frame and ore bin remains, a newer functional well, and many other mining relics of the past. Other mines on the property include: Noonday, Columbia, and Great Mines. One of a kind opportunity to believe. PROPERTY IS ON
